

National Aeronautics and Space Administration

Langley Research Center
Hampton, Virginia 23665-5225

Official Business
Penalty for Private Use $300

BULK RATE
POSTAGE & FEES PAID
NASA Washington, DC
Permit No. G-27

News Researcher

Following the dedication of the Mall Memorial, Center Director Richard H. Petersen (right) views the deceased, the plaques which honor those who gave their lives serving Langley. Present for the dedication ceremony were (L to R) Elise H. Maxwell, wife of Thomas B. Maxwell; Rebecca Smith, sister of Mrs. Maxwell; William Kelly Alford and Mary Alford, son and wife of William L. Alford. The Memorial, dedicated October 23, was designed by John Mouring.

-photos by Carol Petrachenko

"The eight people this monument honors--mechanics and pilots, technicians and engineers--represent the tightly woven fabric of talent that has sustained and supported over 70 years of successful, and highly productive, research at Langley....They lost their lives in pursuit of our mutual dreams for a better world."

R. H. Petersen

